My Plan to Begin Animal Chiropractic

At A.C.E.S. we are all about flexibility. You choose your own schedule, when to do the online lectures, when to come to lab, when you want to complete the course. Because A.C.E.S. is also about commitment to our students, we want to help you make the commitment to yourself. A.C.E.S is really about improving the life you live and the lives of those around you too. Are you a doctor because you wanted to make a difference in the world?

Often we are the one thing that is keeping us from achieving our own goals. We put things off for ourselves or we think we will get to it one day. But the more we put it off, the harder it seems to be that we will reach it EVER.

This worksheet is made for those doctors who want to be animal chiropractors. Use it to help you get to class on YOUR time, not someone else’s time.

Answering these questions as honestly as you can will help you get that much closer to your goals.
Everyone thinks they have time, money and commitment constraints that keep them from doing what they want. Making time is just a choice of how to spend yours. Money is just about making more and spending less. Commitment is the true obstacle to achieving our dreams.

The ONE biggest block keeping me from beginning my Animal Chiropractic training today is
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
The plan I have to remove this block is
_____________________________________________________________________

The date I plan to accomplish this is _____/_____/_______.

The faster I can make this work the sooner I can achieve some progress in my training.

My family is  a) supportive and ready to let me take the training
        b) hesitant and uncertain about me training to be an Animal Chiropractor
        c) resistant and unwilling to allow me to reach for this goal.

The fears my family has about me beginning this training are:
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________

Some ways I can show my family that I am serious is by helping them overcome their fears. Here are some ways I can help them overcome these fears:
Discuss:_________________________________________________________________
Find:_________________________________________________________________
Arrange:_________________________________________________________________

Adding Animal Chiropractic is a key step to making a practice life that leads to a better personal life. At A.C.E.S. we support our alumni and help them build a practice that meets their desires, needs and expectations.
